FRIDAY, OCTOBER 9

A timeless, never-before-seen, celebration of the human spirit-wrapped inside a "vibrant and joyous" (LA Times) concert film starring James Brown, Celia Cruz, B.B. King and Miriam Makeba in their prime, among many others, performing alongside Africa's leading musical talents-that was shot in Kinshasa, Zaire at the time of Muhammad Ali's legendary championship bout vs. Joe Frazier. NY Times critic A.O. Scott raved that SOUL POWER "is as aptly and succinctly titled a movie as I have ever seen, takes you to a place where the discipline that produces great popular art is indistinguishable from the ecstasy that art creates."

Rated PG-13. 93 min.
